

Poor School Methods Active Child's Doom

BY DR. WILLIAM A. M'KEEVER,
Professor in the University of Kansas and a Well-Known Educator.

Find the least common multiple. Answer—Never had one. Did not lose any such a thing. Reduce to simplest form 18.39-42. 2735-19. 217-1313. Answer—There is no simple form. Leave them alone as they are.

Now, here are a few specimens of the most methodical material ever for killing interest and initiative in school children. The whole of the preceding red-headed shels at the idea of consuming time with such meaningless of you! These samples are not have taken them from actual school books, but from pages like them. Only last evening I tried to find out how many of the school boys who have a page of 12 problems exactly like that algebra was rebellious and rebellious. I ended that the algebraic powers had kind of magical value and tried to get them to solve them in an attack on them, but I was not able, and he and I both knew it. A bright, promising 14-year-old boy, for knowledge, the world of action, wanted to shift to Jack and his adventures, a field of where there were three years of advance of interest for him. But pushed him off, gnashed his teeth at the algebraic powers, and Heaven pity the teacher who has such task to perform, who must try to teach the abstract and to keep boys romping girls and pretend that re is anything if life or growth or mind development in it for them. Yes, it is true that about one in fifteen or twenty of the boys in the class will need some algebraic formulae for his college course in higher mathematics. Such boys are very special in their dispositions and interests. But all the others the entire assignment is bunk and will never have any living significance to them.

It is also true that some of the more sensitive, obedient and easily-driven of the children will master these problems to get a grade in the subject, or to make a pleasing report to the teacher. But they, too, are chiefly wasting their time. I am profoundly sorry for their plight.

But I knock on these crazy algebraic riddles? They seem to belong to a kind of obsession or insane madness. For more than twenty years past, I have seen and again, I have seen speakers condemn the stuff as useless and a waste of time of the pupils and have confidently looked for a change. But none has come. The thing seems destined to go on forever.

It is not going to play ball right away, said Johnnie. First, I have to go to the store for my mother. If you come with me well play ball when I come back.

New Summer Mode Of Two-Toned Net

Here is a very smart and unusual dress made entirely of net. The unusual note is struck by the combination of the dark blue net and the white.

The skirt is in tier effect and both the skirt and the blouse are embroidered in a simple conventional design of dark blue.

A simple overlay collar of the blue net and a broad crushed girdle of the same are the finishing touches. A hat to match this frock would be very simple to make and it would be very effective made up of either color in a large draped brimmed shape with a huge bow of contrasting color.

Uncle Wiggly was almost asleep when Johnnie came out with something wrapped in paper.

"What's that?" asked Johnnie, looking at the package.

"It's a new kind of net," said Johnnie, holding up a piece of the fabric.

"Uncle Wiggly! Oh, Uncle Wiggly!" called a voice in the wood one day. The old rabbit gentleman, who was hopping along looking for an adventure, turned to see who was calling him.

"I don't want to come and play ball with you," said Johnnie, looking at the old rabbit gentleman.

Fashion's Forecast By Annabel Worthington.

Fashion's forecast that hips be emphasized in this new skirt model. No hips! The ruffles are just straight skirts of my dress, showing in the folds and creases.

The lady's dressmaker says that the skirt is in style 26 to 32 inches wide, depending on the size of the woman.

Woman Falls In Love With Family Doctor

BY MRS. ELIZABETH THOMPSON.

Dear Mrs. Thompson—I am a married woman with three children and a devoted husband, and I am ashamed to admit that I have fallen in love with my family physician and I think he cares for me.

It came about this way: I had a serious spell of sickness and he attended me and was so kind that I simply could not help loving him. I knew that I had done wrong in going to his office to see him but he said it was necessary and I allowed him to persuade me to come and on my last visit he told me to do as I pleased and to divorce my husband, saying he would do the same with his wife. Please tell me what to do. I know you will doubt it but we both belong to the best families.

Dear Mrs. Thompson—I am about to write you a very long letter and I appreciate it if you would kindly enlighten me as to what I should do. I am a married woman with three children and a devoted husband, and I am ashamed to admit that I have fallen in love with my family physician and I think he cares for me.

Women of Today

Fate is to have the first woman professor, beginning with the fall semester. The woman who has been thus distinguished is Miss Catherine Bennett. She is the first woman to be an assistant professor of the school year to become assistant professor of elementary education under Dr. Bennett.

Miss Bennett said more American young women are seeking positions in Europe and South America than ever before.

WOMAN IS EDITOR. Mrs. W. L. Morrison, of Maudlin, Ore., is both editor and publisher of the Maudlin Times. She is a slight little woman, but might give lessons to strong men in energy and enterprise.

HOOT MON. A snifter just over from Scotland arrived at the Richmond County County Club, Staten Island, the other day. There was a superb view of the sea from the links. A club member was pointing out the scenic beauties to the Scotchman.

FORE. "If you struck one of those golf balls and hit a man in the eye, what would you do?" asked the man who was interested in first aid to the injured.

ERE AND THERE. Miss McGinn, of San Mateo, Cal., is police, warden of the city of health commissioner, having been elected to the combined post by town trustees. Can any woman do that?

WOMAN A BULL FIGHTER. Women have been invading the domain of man for some time. Now they follow the lead of Johnnie Macs of Portugal, who has blossomed in all fields of manly endeavor.

RENCH MAIDS. The French maid is no longer a creature of the past. She is a creature of the present. She is a creature of the future. She is
